NRC Health's Compliment Sharing

Recognize frontline teams in real-time, at scale

Most patients appreciate their care team.
Compliment Sharing makes it easy to show that appreciation by automatically identifying positive feedback and empowering organizations to build positive workforce engagement.

How it works

Natural Language Processing (NLP) automatically pulls positive comments and matches them with patient encounters.
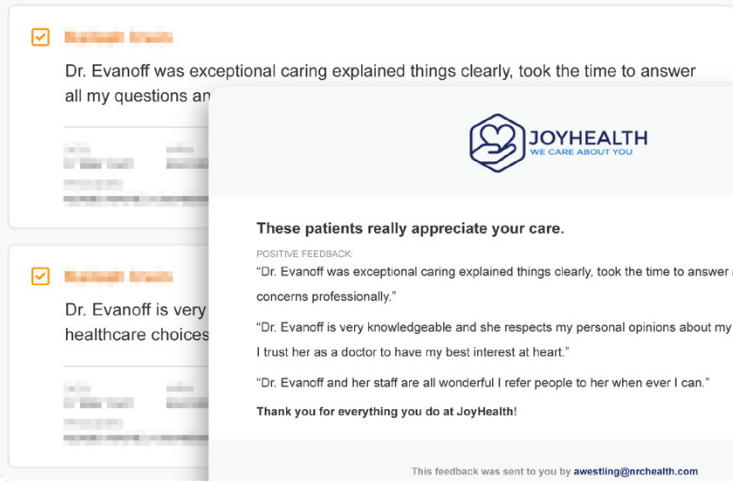

Comments are displayed in an intuitive "send to" interface where users can quickly and easily share positive feedback with only a few clicks.

Users can select and send multiple comments in a single, customizable email to ensure care team members receive personalized recognition.

Share Compliments

These patients had wonderful feedback, we want to help you send that recognition.
