

Sean Antosh

Anesthesia Clinical Director of Special Needs Patient Experience/Chief Medical Wellness and Engagement Officer

Dayton Children's Hospital

Sean Antosh, M.D. is a board-certified pediatric anesthesiologist, the Anesthesia Clinical Director of Special Needs Patient Experience, and the Chief Medical Wellness and Engagement Officer at Dayton Children's Hospital. His clinical interests include the perioperative care and patient experience of neurodiverse patients. He has been instrumental in establishing adaptive sensory environments for neurodiverse patients in the perioperative space at Dayton Children's Hospital through a strong collaboration with a dedicated team of nursing and child life specialists. This program was recognized by Parent's Magazine in 2021 as a "Top 15 Children's Hospitals in Innovation and Technology—Dayton Children's Hospital: A Sensory-Friendly Surgery Experience." Additionally, he has been recognized as a "Collaborator in Caring" by the Division of Nursing, and most recently as a "Healthcare Hero in Innovation" by the Dayton Business Journal for his continued dedication to neurodiverse patients.
